

So Long – Captain Trash Remix

On a ship across the ocean
On a way to nowhere land
With a heart full of emotion
And a suitcase in her hand

She is leaving home completely on her own
No answers on the phone she's cut the line
All troubles left behind no reason to be kind
She's feeling fine
Time has come to say so long

On the wings of love and far out into the blue
Heading for the stars her hands are reaching out for you
She's been waiting
Just for the day to find you again
And to get away
She's been praying
For a new start and with you
Flying high above the clouds

Take your chance fly away
Don't give up and come what may
You will see the light shine at the horizon
This is your chance
Free your mind and start to dance
Love will follow you
All your dreams will come true

Trying to find her destination
In a world of fantasy
Escaping isolation
In her mind she holds the key

She...
